No.	Lev	Question.....	Ans.
General
1.	QBP	The therapy effectiveness of subspace is more effective than using harnesses.
2.	QBP	The therapy effectiveness of subspace can be equal to using harnesses.
3.	QBP	Subspace therapy is always less effective than using harnesses.
4.	QBP	Subspace therapy may be variable according to the therapy and client.
5.	QBP	If the practitioner has difficulty in believing in subspace it will make no difference on the results.
6.	QBP	If the practitioner has difficulty in believing in subspace it may reduce the effectiveness of session.
7.	QBP	If the practitioner has difficulty in believing in subspace then he/she will benefit from examining their relationship with subspace.
8.	QBP	If the practitioner has difficulty in believing in subspace then it may help if he/she just tries it and then decides.
9.	QBP	If the interface or harness cables are not correctly connected to the computer/device then the system will automatically revert to subspace.
10.	QBP	Another name for subspace within the system is virtual mode.
11.	QBP	When using subspace the device must be connected to the computer
12.	QBP	When using subspace it is an option to have the device connected to the computer.
13.	QBP	When using subspace a DNA sample (e.g. hair, nail, etc) of the client is crucial.
14.	QBP	The use of a DNA sample for subspace may be beneficial according to the practitioner's belief system.
15.	QBP	Part of the subspace function is based upon a Tibetan prayer wheel principle.
16.	QBP	Part of the subspace function is based on mathematical generation of the potential for an interface
17.	QBP	The system is capable of producing 92,000 prayers per second.
18.	QBP	Prayers are limited to people.
19.	QBP	The prayer program is for users with religious affiliation only, e.g. priests, nuns etc.
20.	QBP	The computerised prayer wheel prayers have been provided by leaders in their traditions.
21.	QBP	The user must accept all the prayer wheel functions.

22.	QBP	The user can select from which traditions they would like the prayers.
23.	QBP	The user can add their individual audio/text prayers.
24.	QBP	Access to the prayer wheel function is gained via the “about” button from the main screen.
25.	QBP	The prayers function contains only positive prayers.
24/7 prayer program
26.	QBP	The 24/7 prayer program is the same as the QX subspace generating prayer program.
27.	QBP	The 24/7 prayer program is designed as a stand alone software.
28.	QBP	The 24/7 prayer program is available as a separate item.
29.	QBP	It is possible only to use the 24/7 prayer program for one person at a time.
30.	QBP	There is no evidence as to the benefit of prayer program for people.
31.	QBP	It is not possible to select specific information for the prayer program for each client.
32.	QBP	The client must give their permission for use of the 24/7 prayer program to be ethical
33.	QBP	The 24/7 prayer program requires a high specification computer.
34.	QBP	The 24/7 prayer program is best run on any desktop.
35.	QBP	You do not need a load code for the 24/7 prayer program.
